J. M. Delury, city collector, is busily engaged in gathering in poll tax fees. So far collections have been good. Applications continue to come in from men who desire to work out their taxes.

The sun thermometer in front of A. T. Playter's store registered 109 degrees at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, a fall in the temperature of 4 degrees from the corresponding hour on the preceding day.

Nick O'Brien, formerly connected with the Montana Union, but now superintendent of the Pacific division of the Union Pacific and residing in Walla Walla, was in the city yesterday, greeting old friends.

Great preparations are being made for the opening races of the Butte meeting on Thursday. Among the large list of entries are a number of crack California flyers as well as a number of eastern horses.

James Tracy, the 14-year-old son of Philip Tracy, who was injured on Sunday by having a horse fall on him, died at 10 o'clock last night. The funeral will be held at the Catholic church to-morrow afternoon. Friends are invited.

Frank Zimmerman, with the Montana Union, has received a telegram from his wife in Seymour, Md., announcing the serious illness of his 6-year-old daughter. Mr. Zimmerman's family was about to remove to this city, but the trip will have to be delayed.

Chief P. J. Maloney, assisted by a number of firemen, brought out a horse cart yesterday and put the rubber to good use by cooling down the sun-burned streets. The cooling effect produced upon the atmosphere was acceptable.

The news of the arrest of the three men charged with the murder of W. J. Penrose was received by telegraph at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and in a few minutes was the topic of conversation everywhere about the city.

The park ball grounds are in poor condition as was noticed by everyone who attended the game on Sunday. They are very rough and uneven and unfit for good ball playing. It would be a good thing for ball players if the grounds were to be rolled and the loose stones picked up.

On next Thursday the juvenile temple of Willing Workers will hold a basket picnic at the upper picnic grounds. The subordinate lodge has been invited to join in the festivities of the day. All members are requested to meet at the hall in the Mattie block in the morning at 10 o'clock.

The Montana Union Men's Picnic. Tickets are on sale for the railroad employees' picnic which will be held at Garrison on August 15. The fare for the round trip has been placed at $1, including admission to everything. Tickets can be had of J. Lyons or at the depot.

A Tennis Tournament. Considerable talk has been indulged in by local lawn tennis players as to the advisability of holding a tournament at the court for local players only. It is said that it would not be necessary to offer costly prizes, and that such a tournament would have the effect of increasing interest in the game.

BOTH CLAIM THE RANCH

Mr. Purcell Knocked Down the Fence Mr. Furst Had Built.

THEN THERE WAS TROUBLE

Mr. Furst Has Made Payments on the Property, While Mr. Purcell Lived on It Quite a Time.

The case of the state against John Purcell, who was charged with malicious mischief in tearing down a fence on a ranch owned by John Furst, about five miles down the valley, was tried before Judge Rockwell yesterday afternoon. Attorney George B. Winston appeared for the state, while Attorney C. L. Campbell of Butte was on hand to uphold the rights, if any, of the defendant.

The trouble grew out of a dispute over a ranch, the ownership of which was claimed by both Purcell and Furst. From the testimony it appeared that in the first place it was railroad land, and 13 years ago John Purcell settled upon it with his family. Mr. Purcell was very poor at the time and had to work to keep his family from starving. Time passed and he began to prosper, having made considerable money out of various mining claims. Mr. Purcell had two sons, whom he wanted to fit out with ranches. One of them was secured in the Blackfoot country, and he removed there with his sons. The old gentleman did not wish to lose sight of the ranch down the valley, however, and occasionally would have his son and a hired man come over and work on the ranch for a time.

In the meantime John Furst had cast anxious eyes on the property, and, it is understood, went to Purcell and asked him if he wanted the property. It is alleged that Purcell said he did not care for it. Furst then applied to the land office and receiving an option on the property signed a contract for its purchase on easy terms. He had not made many payments on the land when Purcell, it is alleged, changed his mind and made an application, accompanied by money, to the land office for the ground on which he had lined. This money, however, was returned to him.

Mrs. Purcell went to Butte to live and her father and sons staid on the Blackfoot ranch. Furst kept on making regular payments on the property and the last one was made a few weeks ago. He received a letter from the land office stating that the deed to the property would be forwarded in a few days. Furst then went to work and built a fence around the premises and a notice forbidding trespassers entering the grounds was posted up.

A few days ago Mr. Purcell and one of his sons came over and were more than surprised to behold a nice new fence around the ranch and the gates all nailed up. Purcell and son immediately went to work and knocked down the fence in two or three places and entered the premises. Furst swore out a warrant for the arrest of John Purcell and the case resulted in the trial yesterday.

INTO THE CREEK.

Two Young Ladies Fall From a Log They Were Crossing.

Miss Annie English, daughter of City Attorney English, and Miss Bertie Collins had a narrow escape from drowning in the creek back of the depot a little after 12 o'clock yesterday noon. The young ladies are great friends, and yesterday being a perfect day, they decided to take a walk and gather wild flowers. After having walked around for some time they reached the creek at a point almost directly back of the depot. As there was no bridge in sight the ladies were at a loss as how to get across the stream. Just at this time Miss English, who was in the lead, saw a log which had been placed over the water for a foot bridge. Miss English crossed over safely and requested Miss Collins to follow, as there was no danger. The log is a small one and very wet and slippery, and Miss Collins feared to trust herself to it. Miss English then recrossed again, and taking Miss Collins' hand both started for the other side. When near the center of the log Miss Collins was overcome by dizziness and was about to fall, when she grasped Miss English about the waist. The movement was so unexpected that both fell from the log into the stream. The water is several feet deep at this point and the ladies would probably have drowned had not some numbers of the surveyors' party camped near witnessed the ladies fall. The gentlemen hastened with all possible speed to the spot and, after considerable exertion, rescued the young ladies from their perilous position. No injury was sustained by either.

He Gave the Farmers Pointers.

Two young men in Park county have a farm of 300 acres, very stony, and with no pasture land on any foot of it, says the New York Sun. Their three cows were turned out daily to pick up a living on the vast thinly populated country. The biggest cow wore a brass bell with a discordant note about its neck, and the other two, either from love of this note or for the sake of the society of the big cow, kept close to her. Every evening one of the men had to gird up his loins and start out in search of the cows. Sometimes they were found and sometimes they were not seen for several days. No matter whether they were found or not the farmers always came home after these searches for them wet and exhausted, and complaining loudly at the necessity of this labor after a hard day's work. After this had been going on during all the season for several years a city boarder gave the subject some thought. "Wouldn't the cows come home every night of their own accord if you made a practice of giving them at sunset a little mess of feed?" he said.

"By gum! that's so. I never thought of that," was the reply.

The scheme was tried, and thereafter, just as evening came on, the big cow, with her two companions following after, came wading slowly into the barnyard, with expectant expressions on their faces.

Near the home of these same farmers stood the weather-stained remains of a ruined mill that had outlived its usefulness many years ago. The ruins were an eyesore, and the farmers held many lengthy discussions as to how they should be removed. The beams were large and heavy, and to their minds a yoke of oxen and a number of men were required to get rid of the wreck. This would involve an outlay of money which the farmers could, under no circumstances, bring their minds to consider.

After they had talked over the matter for many years they explained it to the city boarder, and promised him that as soon as they could afford it the old mill would be removed.

"Don't wait for the money," said the city boarder. "The first time the wind is blowing south put a match to it."

"By gum! that's so," exclaimed the farmers in chorus, slapping their legs. A few nights later the mill went up in flames and down in ashes.

 OREGON KIDNEY
 TEA CURES ALL KIDNEY TROUBLES

Recently the following Notice appeared in the San Francisco Chronicle.

"Judge S. had been sick only about two weeks, and it was not until the last three or four days that the malady took a serious turn. At the beginning of his illness he suffered from diabetes and stomach disorder. Later the kidneys refused to perform their functions and he passed quietly away. Thus ended the life of one of the most prominent men in California." Like thousands of others his untimely death was the result of neglecting early symptoms of kidney disease.

IF YOU are troubled with diabetes, gravel, or any derangement of the kidneys or urinary organs, don't delay proper treatment until you are forced to give up your daily duties; don't waste your money on worthless liniments and worse plasters, but strike at the seat of the disease at once by using the greatest of all known remedies, the celebrated Oregon Kidney Tea. It has saved the lives of thousands. Why should it not cure you? Try it. Purely vegetable and pleasant to take. $1.00 a package, 6 for $5.00.
